Weather and ground conditions: The snow and ice at the beginning of the month had all melted, but then it got cold again, so the race was held in mid-20s but with dry ice-free trails. 28 runners in 9 teams started and finished, Coen and Jason Figge running together.

Race Director: Richard Smith

Race Report: The rerouting of Cox Mountain trail has proceeded further since last year, and the times suggest the course is slightly longer as a result. Justin Verdirame found himself on the winning team for the second year in succession, where he was joined by Julie Messina and former Godivan Brian Palmer-well done to all of them. Thanks to all the volunteers for braving the cold conditions and making the event run very smoothly.
